ANNUAL REPORT 2014

"We are Caritas" Caritas Nigeria staff

CARITAS NIGERIA

Caritas Nigeria was established in September 2010 by the Catholic Bishops Conference of Nigeria (CBCN), as a specialized national relief and development agency with a mandate for overall coordination of development programs for the Catholic Church in Nigeria. Although independently registered, Caritas Nigeria is an arm of the Church and Society Department of the Catholic Secretariat of Nigeria (CSN). The legal name of the organization is Catholic Caritas Foundation of Nigeria (CCFN), however it is generally known as Caritas Nigeria.

The Catholic Church in Nigeria has a total of 55 dioceses grouped into 9 provinces which cover the entire geographical spread of Nigeria. Caritas Nigeria serves as the umbrella organization supporting these regional institutions to implement development-oriented programs based on local needs. At the Diocesan and Provincial levels, Caritas Nigeria works with the existing structures of Church and Society: Justice, Development and Peace/Caritas (JDPC), Health, Family and Human Life, diocesan Education departments etc, to execute programs impacting on human life and dignity. Caritas Nigeria also partners with relevant CSOs, CBOs, FBOs, NGOs and Government agencies to implement programs in various states.

As part of the universal mission of the Church, Caritas Nigeria targets beneficiaries on the basis of rights and need, and not based on creed, race or nationality.

The Catholic Church is known to be one of the oldest and greatest institutions in the world providing in addition to spiritual growth, access to good education, healthcare delivery services emergency and humanitarian assistance to the poor, vulnerable and excluded persons regardless of race or religion. In Nigeria, the Catholic Church has 1384 Health facilities and 375 schools mostly spread across hard-to-reach communities in the 36 states and Federal Capital Territory in Nigeria. Caritas Nigeria works with other Church Structures and relevant agencies to provide underserved groups/communities access to these services.

FOREWORD

– Most. Rev. Lucius Ugorji

EPISCOPAL CHAIRMAN

Caritas is at the heart of the Church, according to Pope Francis. Caritas indeed is one of the three planks on which the Church's mission stands. The Church's mission is an integrated mission to evangelise, to nurture and to show love. This is expressed succinctly in Deus Caritas Est when Pope Benedict XVI said ““The Church's deepest nature is expressed in her three-fold responsibility: of proclaiming the word of God (kerygma-martyria), celebrating the sacraments (leitourgia) and exercising the ministry of charity (diakonia). These duties presuppose each other and are inseparable” (Deus Caritas Est, 25).

This stand was reiterated in the Motu Proprio on Caritas which Benedict XVI issued in November 2012. The work of charity is therefore not an after thought or one that is relegated to only one struggling society. It is the joy and the burden of the entire faithful.

Charity is also not a restricted activity of individuals; groups, communities, nations could do charity. 'The Church is also called as a whole to the exercise of the diakonia of charity, whether in the small communities of particular Churches or on the level of the universal Church.'(Cf Motu Proprio).

Charity cannot be a haphazard activity. Pope Benedict XVI insisted it must be something organized. Although there is the natural instinct to love and care, charity cannot depend exclusively on instinct or impulse but through a rational process of organisation. This is why it is extremely important to coordinate. Coordination begins at the local community/parish level to the diocesan, provincial and subsequently the national office, which has this overall mandate on behalf of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of Nigeria (CBCN).

Ever since its establishment, Caritas Nigeria has been doing its best to coordinate activities in the relief and development sector on behalf of the CBCN. This is a no mean task especially considering the autonomous nature of the diocesan institutions. However, the Church is a communion and by nature collaborative. Caritas Nigeria would continue to do its best to work along and with the institutions it coordinates in spite of perceived challenges.

As a Board, we shall continue to support the mandate and the strategies of Caritas Nigeria so that it becomes not only a world class organization but a dependable support to those who are most in need.

Our prayer and work therefore is to see Caritas Nigeria fulfil its mission, which is to promote the dignity of all, through participatory measures in line with Church's tradition of practical love and teaching. I urge every stakeholder not only to read this annual report of 2014 but to buy into the vision and mission of Caritas Nigeria and sacrifice towards its strategic objectives.

2014: A YEAR IN REVIEW

-Rev. Fr. Evaristus Bassey,
DIRECTOR CHURCH & SOCIETY/CEO CARITAS NIGERIA

The year 2014 was quite dramatic and far reaching in its implications. Two world wide events had direct impact on Nigeria, with a third actually originating from Nigeria and reverberating around the world. The two refer to the Ebola crisis, which Nigeria contained impressively, with the Catholic Church making significant contributions, and the global fall in oil prices of the Nigerian economy. The issue originating from Nigeria concerned the kidnap of the more than 200 girls from Chibok, Borno State. The whole world was united in one cry: #Bringbackourgirls#.

Around the world other events such as the South Korean ferry that sank, with hundreds missing, leading to the resignation of the Prime Minister, the Russian-Ukraine crisis, leading to the shooting of a plane with 298 passengers; the disappearance of the Malaysian plane with about 200 passengers, the Turkey mine disaster with hundreds dead, and the emergence of the Islamic State, became some of the worst events in mankind's recent history. On the flip side, the world banded together in solidarity.

Other more positive events included the extraordinary General Assembly of the Synod of Bishops on the Family held in Rome, with the ordinary assembly holding this year (2015). Others included the landing of the European Spacecraft Rosetta on a comet, the Sochi Winter Olympics, the breakthrough in US-Cuban relations, and of course Facebook buying WhatsApp for a whopping 19 Billion US Dollars...

For Caritas Nigeria however it was a year to be mostly grateful. Caritas Nigeria continued its expansion in terms of its program areas. For instance rather than dwindle, Caritas Nigeria support from Centres for Disease Control(CDC) for the HIV/AIDS program got a boost, affording expansion in Benue, Kaduna and possibly Lagos States. Currently 30 Comprehensive Care & Treatment (CCT) facilities, 99 Prevention of Mother To Child Transmission facilities and 7 Community Based Organisations help to implement the comprehensive HIV AIDS program with more than a hundred thousand persons being affected positively in one way or another.

The Support for Vulnerable Households Accelerated Revenue Earnings (Share)

program in Sokoto, Kebbi and FCT which uses agriculture as an entry point, continues to be a means of creating wealth for poor populations in the North. Working with about 9 Civil Society Organisations, this project will touch the lives of about 42,000 persons some of who will receive conditional cash transfers (CCTs). It is heartwarming knowing how much the Catholic Bishops' Conference is touching lives through Caritas Nigeria.

CCFN institutional capacity strengthening program got a boost with the training of trainers on Program Management for Development Professionals (PMD-Pro). Lingos program director John Cropper was in- country to lead the two week training which has equipped Caritas Nigeria with enough human resources as trainers. Caritas Nigeria therefore could organize trainings in- country and equip development sector workers with common knowledge and tools.

Meanwhile, the CAFOD supported Good Governance and Gender program has continued to get deepened, with a success story of a group of women organizing themselves for participation in politics and actually campaigning jointly for themselves, although only one person scaled through. This program too saw to the participation of Caritas Nigeria/JDPC in the observation of the elections in Ekiti and Osun, and Caritas Nigeria/JDPC further accreditation to observe the 2015 general elections.

With regards to Emergencies it was a year of internally displaced persons, with nearly a million people displaced from their ancestral communities because of Boko Haram. Caritas Nigeria gave supplementary food rations to Maiduguri, Yola, Shendam, Katsina Ala, Jalingo in ensuring that they took care of displaced persons within their jurisdictions. Some of the support came from the Caritas network, with some coming from Caritas Nigeria local fund raising efforts. As for the local fundraising efforts, about 1999 men, women and youths pledged to support Caritas Nigeria with amounts ranging from five hundred naira to ten thousand naira a year. Local fundraising continues to present a challenge as Nigerians are used to one-off donations for particular projects. The numerous activities in parishes continue to present a situation where national programs appear as a distraction.

Caritas Nigeria plan for a property got a boost with the Administrative Board of the Catholic Bishops Conference of Nigeria approving of its plans. The building could not commence because of issues with land re-certification but should hopefully begin in 2015. Caritas Nigeria also initiated the purchase of four plots of land in Akamkpa, near the College of Education.

Caritas Nigeria also spread herself around a bit, with a desk in Lagos, Benin and an office in Sokoto and Kebbi. The desk in Lagos has our Communications Specialist occupying it, while Sokoto and Kebbi offices are state offices of the SHARE program; Benin desk coordinates our anti human trafficking program, where Edo State is a major catchment area.

In the course of the year Caritas Nigeria was invited to participate in a symposium on Poverty and the Family, organized by Caritas Internationalis in conjunction with the Pontifical Council for the Family. Caritas Nigeria Executive Secretary Fr. Evaristus Bassey made a contribution that is being published in a volume by the organisers.

Similarly, Caritas Nigeria participated in an international symposium organized by the International Centre for Voluntary Agencies (ICVA) in Geneva in November. The objective was to understand the Humanitarian Country Team which is usually coordinated by the UN, and how local civil society organizations could key into the platform and become more influential in the coordination of emergencies and humanitarian interventions. Caritas Nigeria Executive Secretary attended the symposium.

Last year was a time too that the Caritas Internationalis management standards got to Caritas Nigeria and plans were put in place to integrate them. Luckily Caritas Nigeria built its systems in line with international standards, thus most of the management standards were already in place.

In order to align more with existing structures, Caritas Nigeria proposed to its board about working closely with St. Vincent de Paul Society. This would mean effectively that in some of its emergency relief to groups of individuals, Caritas Nigeria could work with Society of St. Vincent de Paul to reach the poor directly.

It was a year of modest achievements, a year of gratitude amidst all the shocks around the world.

THEMATIC AREA REPORTS

EMERGENCY AND HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE

Emergency and Humanitarian Assistance is one of Caritas Nigeria's core areas of intervention. In 2014, Caritas Nigeria Emergency Unit was saddled with the enormous task of responding to the many challenges from man-made disasters around the country, resulting from the terrorism in the North East and the crisis with the fulani herdsmen in Benue and Nassarawa.

Key Achievements

The Project initially targeted 2000 families in all. But in view of the overwhelming population of internally displaced persons (IDPs) whose food needs ought to be addressed, and in order for the diocesan Caritas offices not to cause any form of disaffection amongst the IDPS, we decided to provide Supplementary Rations in a one-off distribution which addressed food needs of 11,060 Households in the affected dioceses (states).

In October, 2014 Caritas Nigeria also distributed food items to families who fled their homes in Gwoza, Borno state in the wake of massive attacks on them perpetrated by the dreaded Boko Haram Islamic sect, and are now residing in a squatter camp in new Kuchingoro, behind the Games village in Area 1, Abuja. The food items distributed enabled over 50 Households approximately 350 individuals on an average of seven persons per household address their immediate food needs. The food items distributed took into consideration their staple food. The following food items were distributed: 3 bags of Rice, 2 bags of Guinea Corn, 2 bags of Maize, 2 bags of Beans, A 25 litre Gallon of Palm Oil, A 25 litre Gallon of Vegetable Oil, 2 bags of salt, 2 Cartoons of Fish and a cartoon of Condiments.

Together with Sr. Ann Falola of Mission and Dialogue, the ES held a meeting with FCT Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and advocated for water for the community.

Caritas Nigeria has continued to demonstrate capacity in implementing maternal, new-born and child health (MNCH) interventions, as well as communicable and non-communicable diseases control programs through a network of over 100 faith-based primary and secondary health facilities. Our current health programme is a 5-year HIV/AIDS prevention, care and treatment program funded by the United States' Centres for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC) called the Sustainable HIV/AIDS Care and Treatment Action in Nigeria (SUSTAIN). Now in its third year, SUSTAIN has a goal of “reducing morbidity and mortality due to HIV infection in Nigeria” by providing life-saving anti-retroviral drugs to People Living with HIV/AIDS (PLHIVs) through faith-based health facilities in under-served and hard to reach communities. The project also supports community based organizations (CBOs) to deliver HIV prevention interventions to at-risk and vulnerable groups as well as working with Orphans and Vulnerable Children (OVC) and their caregivers.

In line with the national plan to eliminate Mother to Child Transmission (eMTCT) of HIV, SUSTAIN has a strong focus on preventing new infections in women of childbearing age, creating demand for uptake of ante-natal care, and providing access to Prevention of Mother To Child Transmission (PMTCT) services for pregnant and breastfeeding HIV positive mothers.

The program presently supports over 55,000 active clients in 102 health facilities, comprising of both comprehensive and stand-alone PMTCT sites, across 12+1 states in Nigeria, namely; Benue, Kaduna, Kogi, Nasarawa, Plateau States; Delta; Ekiti, Oyo, Ondo, Ogun, Osun, Lagos; and the Federal Capital Territory (FCT). In addition, 7 Community Based Organizations have been engaged in some of the aforementioned States to provide HIV Prevention and OVC related services.

Activities currently supported in the SUSTAIN program include:

- Community Sensitization and Demand Creation for HIV services (particularly HIV testing)
- HIV Prevention and Behaviour Change Communication

Nigeria though endowed with both human and material resources, has not been able to harness these resources for the overall well being of her citizens. This is attributable to weak governance structure ranging from poor management of resources to the high level of citizen apathy to governance issues.

Caritas Nigeria Good Governance and Gender Action for Peoples Development (G & G) Program seeks to enhance the capacity of the Church in Nigeria to support quality interventions in transparency, accountability and citizen participation in governance. The project has three aspects:

1. To address issues that will bring about good governance using the Caritas Nigeria and the Justice Development and Peace Commission (JDPC) in Idah and Lokoja Dioceses of Kogi State, in North-Central, Nigeria.
2. Implement activities that bring about gender development (equality & component of the activities in the project with the Center for Women Studies and interventions (CSWI).

ANTI-HUMAN TRAFFICKING & MIGRATION

Caritas Nigeria Anti-Human Trafficking and Migration Desk provide National coordination for the Catholic Church in Nigeria. The program is aimed at combating human rights abuses, human trafficking and irregular migration. The greatest achievement of Caritas Nigeria in this regard is the institution of an awareness creation day by the Catholic Bishops Conference of Nigeria on every Sunday after the Feast of St. Bakhita. In 2014 Caritas Nigeria animated the 55 dioceses on this issue including direct communication with parishes that are on its data base.

The following are objectives of the Desk:

- Sensitization and awareness creation on the dangers of human trafficking and irregular migration in our society
- Networking and building linkages with other organizations/international bodies working on human trafficking and migration

- Identification of program funding opportunities to support anti-human trafficking and migration programs.
- Organization of capacity building sessions/workshops on human trafficking and smuggling of migrants for Caritas Nigeria staff and Local Partners to improve program quality.
- Rehabilitation and re-integration of victims of trafficking.

Caritas Nigeria supports the JDPCs and other sister organizations in enlightenment campaigns; raising awareness and consciousness of people about the vices and dangers of Human Trafficking which is referred to as modern day slavery. On the 30th of July 2013, Caritas Nigeria commemorated the First UN World Day Against Trafficking in Persons ; the event was marked not only by the National Office but by most Dioceses as well. Similarly the Church World Anti-Human Trafficking Day was marked on the feast of St. Josephine Bahkita on February 8th, 2015 through awareness creation in parishes.

Also working with diocesan Caritas and sister agencies, the program officer provides psychosocial support for trafficked victims. Caritas Nigeria provides linkages to agencies that can help trafficked victims. Working more on prevention, Caritas Nigeria has tried to reduce the vulnerability of young active adolescents and women in some of the Dioceses by encouraging them to start up small businesses or acquire skills which could enable them cater for their needs and that of their families thereby reducing the prevalence of falling prey to traffickers in those areas and ultimately reducing poverty which is acclaimed the root cause of human trafficking in Nigeria.

Caritas Nigeria has been networking and collaborating with organizations working in the area of Anti-Human Trafficking, Irregular Migration and Child Labour, Agencies like; Network Against Child Trafficking Abuse and Labour (NACTAL), National Agency for the Prohibition of Trafficking In Persons (NAPTIP), Committee for the Support of Dignity Of Women (COSUDOW) and COATNET.

Caritas Nigeria became a member of Christian Organizations Against Trafficking in Human Beings (COATNET) and has been attending it's meeting to further strengthen the Human Trafficking work of the organization. The organization has also participated in international symposia/conferences and will be hosting a program on Anti-Human trafficking in 2015 in collaboration with COATNET and Caritas Internationalis.

Strengthening CARITAS

Caritas Nigeria provides capacity building and institutional strengthening support for Church institutions through meetings, workshops, assessments, trainings, on the job mentoring and technical assistance. Caritas Nigeria realizes that capacity building is key to sustainable development, Caritas Nigeria is building and improving project management capacity of Church institutions and development workers across Nigeria to effectively respond to humanitarian and development needs of the Church.

The strategy for implementing the project is based on the concept of 'on the job training'. The church institutions that have undergone HOCAI capacity assessments are provided seed grants to implement a project to address a need which they have identified in their respective communities. The process involves the Church partners identifying a problem/issue, and developing a project proposal to address the issue. CCFN with support from CRS Nigeria evaluates the submitted proposals and also provide technical assistance to the partners to enable them select a suitable project that can be implemented easily. The partners are then trained and coached through the course of the project implementation on the various aspects of program management and financial management. The identified system weaknesses during HOCAI evaluation are also corrected in the course of this process.

Key Achievements

The most significant results were achieved through the write-shops and small grants scheme.

The first write-shop had 50% success with regards to the number of organizations that were finally selected for the project implementation.

The second write-shop achieved a 100% success in terms of organizations that were successful in the SMILE funding application. A proposal development write-shop for the SMILE project was for six Church partners namely: JDPC Auchi, JDPC Abuja, JDPC Idah, JDPC Lafia, JDPC Gboko and JDPC Katsina-ala. During the write-shop, presentations were made on what the likely expectations of the donor maybe and their draft proposals are reviewed accordingly. The participating organizations were then guided on what corrections to make on their draft proposals before submitting them. After the write-shop some of the partners still sent in their proposals for a final review before submission.

A number of significant results were achieved through the small grants scheme. The results cut across all the participating organizations. Some of these results/outputs include -:

	JDPC UROMI Skill Acquisition project	DHSP BENIN PLHIV Household Economic Strengthening Project	JDPC AUCHI Empowerment of Widows and Indigent Women Project
SMALL GRANT AMOUNT	₦2,000,000.000	₦2,000,000.000	₦2,000,000.000
NUMBER OF PEOPLE REACHED	59	32	37
NO OF ADDITIONAL STAFF EMPLOYED	2	1	5
NO OF STAFF TRAINED	2	3	8
NO OF NEW PROJECTS AWARDED	-	1	2
NO OF PROPOSALS DEVELOPED AND SUBMITTED	4	1	4

The participating organizations also had indicated they had challenges with securing project funding awards, inadequate knowledge on program management and inadequate knowledge on financial management.

The ICS project enabled these organizations to address most of these challenges through workshops and mentoring exercises. At the end of FY14, the capacities of these organizations have improved significantly in developing funding proposals, program management and financial management as shown in the table above.

Furthermore, in collaboration with Catholic Relief Services and Learning In NGOS (LINGOS), Caritas Nigeria is now the training hub for Project Management courses for Development Professionals (PMD Pro) in West Africa and in the next fiscal year the organization hopes to have trained a sizeable number of development professionals in sustainable project management.

Gender

Caritas Nigeria ensures that gender is mainstreamed into its programs/projects and policies to ensure that the needs of men, women, boys and girls are addressed specifically in program design and implementation and in the organization as a whole. In addressing this, a review of CCFN Gender policy was done. Following the findings from the review, the management is currently working towards providing Crèche for staff who are nursing mothers for a more gender sensitive work environment.

One of the objectives of Caritas Nigeria's Good governance program is aimed at educating and empowering women and girls specifically to participate in governance and in decision making in their communities and states as a whole.

During this reporting period, Caritas Nigeria conducted technical support visits to two partner dioceses- Idah and Lokoja dioceses. The Gender focal staff supported the diocesan project teams to conduct gender analysis of their project implementation plans identifying gender sensitive strategies for an improved gender mainstreaming into their projects. A-one-day coaching session focusing on essential gender concepts was carried out to enhance partners' knowledge and expertise in making their projects more gender sensitive.

Key Achievements in 2014

- Conducted Gender Audit for 3 diocesan partners.
- Conducted sensitization and awareness creation activities to strengthen women participation in decision making.
- Built the capacity of project staff of 2 diocesan partners- Lokoja and Idah dioceses - Participants were equipped with knowledge and expertise to mainstream a gender perspective in Good governance program
- Supported the 2 partner dioceses to conduct gender analysis of their project implementation plans

RESOURCE MOBILIZATION AND VISIBILITY

Caritas Nigeria has been making strategic efforts to increase local fundraising to support its development interventions as is her mandate by the Catholic Bishops Conference of Nigeria.

In this regards, several strategies have been employed to increase its local funding base. Based on previous experience, it was clear that one of the best ways to do so will be to first create awareness of its existence through Lagos Archdioceses to conduct Parish fundraising, corporate organization sponsorship and to promote visibility of Caritas Nigeria in Lagos and Nigeria at large.

Caritas Nigeria then decided to focus on promoting the visibility of the organization and raise funds for the sustainability of Caritas Nigeria. The following are strategies that were proposed:

- Parish Fundraising

Almighty Father, all good gifts come from you and the gift of children is priceless.

You sent your Son to die for us and to teach us your law of love.

We come before you, O God, conscious of our faults and failures but full of hope that you will hear and answer us.

A greed for power and control has put us in the terrible situation we find ourselves in Nigeria.

We commit the lives of the abducted Government Secondary School Girls in Chibok into Your hands and pray for their safe return home.

Protect the children from all dangers, strengthen their parents as they look to you for a solution to this problem.

Through your wisdom, inspire leaders of government, our security personnel, as well as the world's citizens to find a just and charitable end to insurgency and crises in Nigeria.

Amen

various visibility strategies that will help people understand more and identify with Caritas Nigeria.

To reinforce its resource mobilization strategy, it was decided that Caritas Nigeria should focus on a particular region (Archdiocese) to intensify its effort to raise funds. Towards the end of 2014, it was decided that Caritas Nigeria should focus on Abuja and

- Corporate Fundraising
- Increased visibility

In 2014, Caritas Nigeria's focus was on sensitization and awareness creation about the organization, as fundraising has been a major challenge due to the fact that most people hardly know about its existence, so it was decided that the organization should focus on strategies to improve its visibility.

Key achievements in 2014;

Visibility

- Produced and distributed Caritas Nigeria & JDPC 2013 Annual Report (Maiden Edition)

benefactor's cards for distribution to support resource mobilization.

- Increased use of the social media to engage the public to promote its visibility.

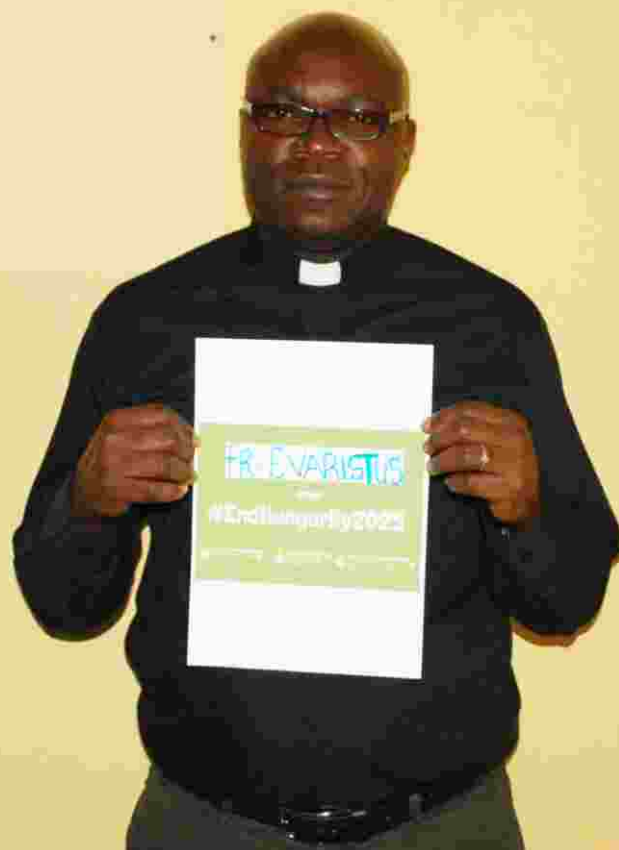

Resource Mobilization

- Caritas Nigeria conducted Fundraising in four Parishes in Abuja with the following results: Karimo (95 men, 223 women = 318), Nyanya (426men, 606women= 1032), Wuse (208men, 317women = 525), and Games Village (124). A total of 1999 persons responded to the call for pledges ranging from 10,000 naira to five hundred naira a year with only a few reaching the 100,000 Naira margin. Parish visitation seems to be the most effective means of reaching out to Catholics in Nigeria. The responses have been consistent as well, even if they are small amounts. The level of distrust existing in the minds of Nigerians make the direct contact in ecclesial communities the most effective means of sensitizing and garnering support for Caritas Nigeria initiatives. There is need to upscale this approach nationally.

- An advocacy meeting was held in Imo State with JDPC coordinators.
- Attempts were made to sell the idea of corporate sponsorship to ABC Transport and Chisco Transport to have them donate a fraction of every ticket cost to Caritas Nigeria. There has been no positive response yet.

The Church's Prophetic Voice through Caritas Nigeria and JDPC

The Church has a responsibility to be the voice of the voiceless, especially in her preferential option for the poor. Sometimes even when other stakeholders have expressed a position on an issue, the generality of people also want to hear the voice of the Church. Caritas Nigeria and JDPC therefore rise up to the occasion.

One major happenstance in 2014 that drew world attention was the kidnap of more than 200 girls from a school in Chibok, Borno State Nigeria. Caritas Nigeria apart from organizing a prayer rally, issued a widely circulated statement that proffered suggestions that would take care of root causes. Apart from sympathizing with the parents and the community, Caritas Nigeria/JDPC challenged the military to rebuild the confidence of Nigerians in their ability. State governments were advised to legislate on the issue of 'Almajiri' children who form the recruits for Boko Haram terrorists. These children often receive only Islamic education and fall easy prey to ideologues. State Houses of Assemblies were urged to “study best practices in other countries and promulgate legislation that promotes the dignity of these children. We suggest Northern State governors should go back to the study commissioned by the late Sardauna in the 60s and implement its recommendations as affects Almajiris’. Caritas Nigeria/JDPC urged that dialogue and collaboration between Muslim and Christian clerics be institutionalized beyond high profile personalities and five star venues through to local communities. Caritas Nigeria/JDPC asked Nigerians to close ranks and fight the terrorism, otherwise there would be no country to fight over. ‘Politicians should not play into the hands of those who may want to see this country go the way of Sudan, come 2015. If we all are not careful, we will make the speculated intentions of our enemies come true. We all need to fight for the preservation of the unity of the country.'

Another major event was the state election held in Osun. This election was crucial in moving forward popular confidence in the electoral process; it was the election that would have marred or made the credibility of the vote. Osun State is controlled by the opposition All Progressives Congress (APC). There was great speculation that the deployment of security forces was meant to intimidate voters and skew the elections towards the ruling Peoples' Democratic Party, (PDP). Caritas Nigeria was involved with observing the elections and issued a statement on the conduct of the election which was won by the opposition. Caritas Nigeria in fairness to truth, congratulated the electoral body, the people of Osun and the re-elected governor. This election helped to restore confidence in the electoral system.

With the renewed acts of terrorism and increasing displacement of persons internally, Caritas Nigeria held a press conference urging a change in the lifestyle of Nigerians, berating the generality of people for their insensitivity towards the suffering segment. Caritas Nigeria/JDPC lamented a situation where Nigerians in other parts of the country lived as if everything was okay and urged Nigerians to spare a thought to hundreds of thousands of Nigerians living in a war situation. 'The tragedy is that the rest of the country is moving on as if nothing catastrophic is happening. Politicians are gathering, multi million naira parties being hosted, and everyone is carrying on with business as usual. Is it that we have heard so much about Boko Haram that these happenings are no longer news but have become normal daily narratives? But imagine being displaced in your own country! Imagine running for hours for safety. Imagine not being certain if you would eat for days. Imagine having to sleep in the hills for days and weeks. Imagine not having a bath for days and wearing the same cloth...' However the attempt for a mass appeal through the media did not yield much result in terms of financial appeals. However many Christian churches, perhaps as an aftermath, resolved to support the churches in the North East.

On learning of the 'death' of Shekau, the leader of the Boko Haram, Caritas Nigeria issued a statement congratulating the military. The essence of this statement was to show that the Church was not just out to condemn but also to encourage and express joy. This period witnessed a boost in the morale of soldiers and subsequent victories, although about two weeks later, Shekau in a video, said he was alive. Speculation has it that Shekau actually had been killed but the terrorists were manipulating electronic images. Caritas Nigeria referred to it as 'second death', allowing room for doubt, and urged the military to use the momentum to be on the offensive rather than being often reactive.

Towards the end of the year, political activities increased in their velocity, although officially campaigns had not started. Many rallies were being held by the major parties. Tension was rising, as each of the two major parties displayed unbridled desperation. There was concern for the unity and peace of Nigeria. Caritas Nigeria cashed in on the situation to organize rallies across the country on World Day of Peace. Caritas Nigeria advised as follows: Nigeria belongs to all of us, and we the citizens should determine the fate of politicians rather than allowing them to determine our fate. Let us pray and at least resolve as citizens that we shall not contribute in any way towards the realization of the negative predictions about our country Nigeria. This peaceful procession is an indication that we as citizens are ready to stand up for the peace and unity of our country.

Caritas Nigeria urged citizens to among other things: publicly embarrass any politician who wants to use them as instruments of violence; Come February 2015, go out en masse and vote, and not give room for politicians to mass-thump- print ballot papers; wait outside the perimeter fence and witness the public counting of votes at polling units and keep a record of the results; not restrict their votes to the two main opposing parties and vote for credible individuals in lesser known parties, especially at the presidential elections, as the two main opposing parties were ready to bring down the nation if neither of them won the presidential election. Finally Nigerians were urged to stop hate speech in the social media.

Later, as doubts and rumours filled the air with regards the intention of the ruling party to bring in an interim government rather than allow the elections to hold, Caritas Nigeria issued statements that were much publicized by the media. 'The 2015 elections mean a lot to Nigerians. A free and fair election will be an expression of the will of the people and the basis for a new Nigeria. Nigerians want to choose their own leaders, no matter the character of these leaders; Nigerians don't want a clique or a cartel to do this for them. If a free and fair election will affirm or change leadership at local government, state and federal levels, it will go a long way to instill the commitment to participation, accountability and transparency which are hallmarks of good governance. These elections must hold, and they must be free and fair, in order for political actors to have respect for the ordinary Nigerian and value our collective participation and sovereignty.

As threats of violence became more and more palpable, Caritas Nigeria/JDPC advised Nigerians to know that politicians were all the same. If APC wins the presidential election, everyone will decamp there and if PDP wins, they will move back to PDP, so it is not worth it destroying property and or especially destroying lives just because one set of politicians have lost elections.

Generally, Caritas Nigeria/JDPC have remained in the public consciousness as a vibrant agency of the Catholic Church in Nigeria. Caritas Nigeria Executive Director and program directors get invited to television programs to speak on current issues; Caritas Nigeria is also networking with other agencies and NGOs to always bring in the perspective of the Church.

PROVINCIAL REPORT AT A GLANCE

Caritas Nigeria is structured to work at the National level. The Diocesan Justice Development and Peace/Caritas Commissions (JDPCs) are Caritas Nigeria's primary implementing partners, along with Health departments and health facilities of dioceses and religious congregations. The dioceses themselves are grouped into nine regional sub-coordinating bodies known as Ecclesiastical Provinces, which work with Caritas Nigeria national office to facilitate coordination. The 9 Ecclesiastical Provinces altogether sub-coordinate fifty five dioceses, many with varied and same number of dioceses. The following are reports from some provinces for this reporting period.

ABUJA PROVINCE

Abuja Ecclesiastical Province is made up of the following Dioceses; Abuja, Gboko, Katsina Ala, Makurdi, Lokoja, Idah, Otukpo and Lafia.

The Provincial Office of Health and JDPC, Abuja Province is not a field implementing organ, rather it initiates actions that galvanize the Diocesan Offices of Health and JDPCs within Abuja Province, to function optimally and serves as a bridge between the Dioceses, in Abuja Province, and the National Office in strengthening platforms for information sharing and maintenance of quality assurance of programs/projects implemented by both Health and JDPC Commissions in the Dioceses.

In 2014, Abuja Provincial office of Health and JDPC carried-out the following activities which had impactful contributions to our Arch/Diocesan interventions;

a. COORDINATORS' MEETINGS: In the year under review three Coordinators' meetings were held. The meetings provided platform for experience sharing, notably, was dedication of one of the meetings to review SMILE project's guidelines and technically supported Diocesan Commissions aspiring to be enlisted in the second phase of SMILE project. It is heartwarming to note that ten (10) Commissions of Health and JDPC in Abuja Province are presently involved in SMILE Project implementation. Five Commissions; JDPC Abuja, JDPC Lafia, JDPC Idah, JDPC Katsina-Ala and JDPC Gboko, were all enlisted in SMILE Project in 2014.

b. PULL-OUT OF ALL CONSTITUTENCY PROJECTS EARMARKED FOR STATES IN ABUJA PROVINCE FROM 2014 FEDERAL GOVERNMENT BUDGET:

The Provincial Office did a comprehensive pull-out of all social service sector projects earmarked for execution in 2014 across Communities in Abuja Province, the information was shared with the Diocesan Commissions of JDPC and Health. A total of 160 projects were identified from the budget which were to benefit Communities in Abuja Province. The breakdown of the identified projects for 2014 showed that; 19 projects were sited in FCT, Abuja; 64 projects for Old Makurdi Diocese (22 projects for Gboko, 27 projects for Katsina-ala and 14 projects for Makurdi); 13 projects were earmarked for Idah Diocese; 25 projects for Lafia; 25 projects for Lokoja Diocese; and 14 projects for Otukpo Diocese respectively.

However, 45 projects were chosen by our Diocesan Commissions for monitoring and tracking in 2014. To assist the Commissions to effectively monitor the projects, the Provincial office accessed quarterly disbursement information made in favour of the projects from Federal Ministry of Finance and Accountant General's office. The quarterly disbursement information aided the Diocesan Commissions in mobilizing other Stakeholders' interest in tracking the Constituency project implementation in their respective Arch/Dioceses.

c. RESEARCH INTO THE IMMEDIATE AND REMOTE CAUSES OF RESURGENCE OF CONFLICT IN ABUJA PROVINCE:

The resurgence of violent conflicts across five Diocese; Lafia, Makurdi, Otukpo, Gboko and Katsina-Ala got to its peak in 2013, which prompted the Provincial Bishops to direct the Provincial office of Health/JDPC to carry out a research with a view to establishing the immediate and Remote causes of the resurgence of conflict in the area. The research started in the last quarter of 2013 and concluded in the 1st quarter of 2014 with submission of comprehensive draft report to the Provincial Bishops and Coordinators. It is important to note that during the course of the research we had meaningful interfaces with relevant State Actors such as Institute for Peace and Conflict Resolution, IPCR; Nigeria Police Force, Headquarters; Public Relations' Unit of Directorate of State Security, DSS; National Boundary Commission; Representatives of Department of Land and Survey of Benue and Nasarawa States.

d. DRAFT 5 YEARS STRATEGIC PLAN DOCUMENT FOR JDPC LOKOJA:

We worked with Stakeholders of Lokoja Dioceses in developing a comprehensive five-year strategic plan (2015 – 2019). The strategic plan has since been adopted by all the Stakeholders, including the Diocesan Bishop.

e. DRAFT NEEDS ASSESSMENT FOR JDPC, IDAH:

The Abuja Provincial Office of Health&JDPC facilitated the processes leading to the development of a Needs Assessment Document for JDPC Idah Diocese in 2014.

f. PRODUCTION OF 2013 ANNUAL REPORT OF H/JDPC, ABUJA PROVINCE: We continued in our organizational culture of producing our Annual Report. More so, in 2014 we produced our 2013 Annual Report which was a collation of activity reports of both Health and JDPCs across Eight Dioceses within Abuja Province and of course, it included reports of activities directly superintended by the Provincial Office.

IBADAN PROVINCE

Ibadan Province comprises six dioceses namely: Ibadan, Oyo, Osogbo, Ondo, Ilorin and Ekiti.

The JDP Coordinators of the province meet at least six times in a year and are also well represented at various meetings and programs at the national level. Training of staff which is one of the important tools for skill acquisition and empowerment for effective services is not left out in the provincial calendar. The province organizes at least two major training and workshop for the members of staff.

There are also collaborations with individuals, various Funding partners and selected government agencies that serve as strong pillars that support the Province to achieve its set objectives for the year.

Some of the activities and programs undertaken by the various Dioceses and the Province include:

DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRAMME

Human Right

The program which runs across the dioceses of the province focuses on advocacy and lobbying to achieve greater impact on the life of its targets. The legal aid program is committed to increasing the knowledge of all people on issues of human rights and civic duties.

The Legal Aid program continues to offer assistance to prisoners and members of the public through representation in court, both in and this has yielded an encouraging result as it proved to be successful and the groups and individuals who benefited from it were largely satisfied with its outcome. A specialized seminar was organized in favour of prisons decongestion. The program treated speedy Administration of justice and how to decongest Prison by promoting Alternative Dispute Resolution.

JDP and the Media: The organization engages the media for wide dissemination of its many interventions; this has raised the level of Awareness and active participation of the populace with very commendable involvement in the radio program. Numerous activities under the media as undertaken by the JDP within this period of reporting include, half an hour weekly slots on radio stations in which various issues to holistic human development are discussed. In this program, burning issues within the society are discussed by experts and listeners are allowed to air their views through phone calls. The program so far

Civil and criminal cases. Bails applications filed to ensure the right to liberty to some awaiting trial prisoners. Awareness on issues of civil rights is created through advocacy visits and lectures, symposia etcetera.

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)

It has been noticed that issues of conflict that ensue between parties and individuals are usually issues that could be settled out of court and since this is possible, it will contribute to having less number of cases to deal with in the court, unnecessary detention of persons at the police stations and also bridging factions and establishing a cordial relationship among individuals. To this end, we have taken to the ADR method in handling issues of this nature has a wide audience capacity.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT

JDP intervention focuses also on the training of peasant farmers (men, women, and youths) on organic agriculture to improve their livelihood and the environment. Rural Development program, works with farmers and villagers in the remote communities where government intervention has been weak and sometimes almost not felt at all. The mission is to have a group of farmers and community development committees that are empowered to attract benefits from all relevant agents on Rural Development and Agriculture.

Areas of focus include, Soil and water conservation, Livestock promotion, Crop management, Networking, Youths in agriculture, Farmers' group initiatives, Community Development Initiatives. The success behind the program could not be achieved if not for the support of various funding agencies home and abroad. Examples: Misereor, Resource Centre on Urban Agriculture and Food Security (RUAF) Foundation, European Union (EU-Inside) and a host of others. The micro credit scheme within the organization and across the dioceses also provides credit facilities to support qualified farmers groups. There were active participation and collaboration with FADAMA, OXFAM AND ASSAPIN AND IITA.

Environmental Awareness: our efforts in environmental sustainability received a boost from the European Union INSIDE Program. Thus we were able to intensify our efforts with the rural communities. Our focus has been to increase the environmental consciousness of our people and ensure environmental protection and promotion.

MICRO CREDIT SCHEME

The establishment of the Micro Credit scheme is to impact positively on the economic lives of the poor and underserved in our society. In respect to this, people in the same business line and within the same economic or residential environment are mobilized, formed into viable groups and trained on the mode of operation and guiding principles before assessing credit from the Scheme. This has gone a long way to promote saving culture by encouraging weekly savings from members which also serves as a prerequisite for accessing loans. Beneficiaries of the scheme are multi-dimensional and in fact more than 75% of those under the scheme are non-Catholics and Muslims alike.

WELFARE/ WOMEN DEVELOPMENT AND PROMOTION

The preventive Health Care Program focuses on enhancing the health and wellness of the populace by reducing the impact and spread of the preventable diseases around. We educated the People especially on HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria. Many beneficiaries were directly reached through this intervention and we are sure that they in turn would reach out to many others. People living with HIV and AIDS (PLWHA) and Orphans and vulnerable children (OVC) have received our care and support in the last one year.

Economic empowerment of women through training and vocational skills acquisition and child right advocacy are but some of the other ways through which dioceses across the province have helped to reach out to the masses they serve. The activities here include: organization of capacity building and training, networking with and collaboration with agencies like State Action Committee on AIDS (SACA) Association of OVC NGOs all with successful results.

PRISONS APOSTOLATE

Interview and counselling, visitation, establishing contacts between offenders and their families, project areas and target beneficiaries are a few of the activities carried out to assist inmates. Rehabilitation and skill acquisitions are regularly offered to inmates to assist them engage in self sustainable jobs on release. Inmates and their families are grateful for these services rendered as it has been quite beneficial to them.
